

Bringing Tradition Home

Provided by Aboriginal Child & Family Support Services

Mondays, 12-3 p.m.

September 10, 17, 24, October 1, 15, 22, 29 & November 5, 19

The aim of Bringing Tradition Home is to present traditional values and cultural practices to help parents, grandparents and other caregivers to raise healthy children in today's urban Canadian context.

We believe in that healthy children with involved parents lead to healthy communities. While there are many differences among Nations, there are some universal values, beliefs and practices that the program builds upon—such as storytelling, the spiritual connection to child-rearing, and the involvement of the extended family.

Facilitators: Tracy Joseph and Cindy Pete

Lunch provided. Child care available. Limited space.

Mount Pleasant Neighbourhood House

800 East Broadway

Unceded Coast Salish Territory

www.mpnh.org

To register, please contact Tracy Joseph
Aboriginal Child & Family Support Services
Family Support Worker

604.879.8208 ext 209

TracyJ.acfss@vnhs.net

Vancouver Native Health Society
Aboriginal Child & Family Support Services

Mount Pleasant
Neighbourhood House